RADIO TO GIVE PRESIDENT'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

City Completes Elaborate Preparations To Hear Coolidge Message

Glendale will be on the alert tomorrow morning to "listen in" on the inaugural address given in Washington, D. C., by President Calvin Coolidge and carried to the remotest parts of the United States by the magic of the radio.

People of the Southland will hear the voice of the president by means of the long-distance telephone across the continent and then by means of radio broadcasting from KFI, Earle C. Anthony, central superstation, Los Angeles.

While there are some differences as to just the time the president's voice will come over the air, it is generally agreed that he will be heard between 8:15 and 8:30 o'clock in the morning. Owners of private radio receiving sets, and managers of radio stores, who are arranging for receptions for large gatherings, are planning on 8:20 o'clock.

Every school pupil in Glendale is to have the privilege of participating in hearing the first inaugural address broadcast by means of the radio. It will be an historical event and Glendale is well prepared for taking part.

Fine receiving sets will be in use in prominent places in the business district. At Brand boulevard and Broadway the inaugural address will be received in the Security Trust & Savings bank, where the Antunes and O'Donnell Radio Shop of 500 East Colorado boulevard, has installed an Ando Reflex set. The doors of the bank will be opened at 8:15 o'clock and patrons and friends will be welcomed.

Another gathering place will be the T. D. & L. theatre on North Brand boulevard, between Broadway and Wilson avenue. Free tickets have been issued and those "listening in" at the theatre will hear the president's voice received

TREASURY DENIES SCANDAL IN BONDS

Falsification Of Records To Cover Up Duplicates Cashed, Charged

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A vigorous denial that the government has lost any appreciable sum by cashing of liberty and other bonds fraudulently issued in duplicate, was made at the treasury department today.

The treasury's denial was in flat contradiction to the sensational charges contained in the official report of a congressional investigating committee, which late yesterday declared there had been widespread duplication of government bonds, and falsification of records in the treasury to conceal the peculations.

While the congressional report did not estimate the sum supposed to have been lost by the government, committee members said it might range from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Denial By Mellon
Secretary of the Treasury Mellon formally denied today in a letter to President Coolidge that the government had suffered any large losses because of alleged duplication of liberty bonds and other securities in the bureau of engraving and printing.

Mellon said no duplications had occurred and that the government lost only $13,100 as a result of these issues, several bonds of lower denominations having been stolen by treasury employees and re-sold to the government.

The alleged irregularities complained of, Mellon said, had occurred during a previous administration and that they had been found groundless, when investigated by former Secretary of the Treasury Houston.

Among those examined last night were Richard M. Hotelling, brother of Frederick, Ralph P. King, who is declared by the police to have revealed details of the alleged conspiracy; and Lou Madison and Al Reels, alleged to have received payment to carry out the alleged plot.

State Railroad Board, In Session Here, Considers Plea for Grade Crossings

No action was taken this morning at the hearing of the State Railroad commission held in the council room of the city hall when the matter of a grade crossing on West Broadway at the Southern Pacific tracks was heard. Commissioner Edgerton Shore, of the commission, presided. The meeting adjourned at 1 o'clock and reconvened at 2 o'clock to hear two other applications for a grade crossing, first at the Southern Pacific crossing at Gardena avenue and second, at the Pacific Electric tracks at Palmer avenue.

The testimony introduced at the hearing by the members of the Glendale City Planning commission tended to show that a large industrial tract lying on the west side of the Southern Pacific tracks was ready for development and was needed by industry and for this reason a crossing was needed at West Broadway. The attorneys and engineers for the state commission endeavored to show that a crossing at Colorado street at the Southern Pacific tracks, better serve for public good at this time.

Members of the Glendale City Planning commission and other local people who testified were very plain in their statements that both crossings were needed. Chairman T. W. Watson, of the Glendale City Planning commission, pointed out that the crossing at West Broadway which would be used for industrial purposes would connect up with Victory boulevard, Burbank, whereas the other crossing would connect with Los Feliz road, Hollywood. It was also brought out that both crossings were needed, the one at West Broadway for industrial purposes

LEAGUE PARLEY IS OPPOSED BY JAPS

Foreign Minister Says Only Feasible Arms Plan Lies With U. S.

TOKIO, March 3.—Baron Kijuro Shidehara, Japanese foreign minister, in answer to a query in the House of Peers, today said an armament limitation parley under auspices of the League of Nations was unlikely. He gave it as his opinion that an arms conference would have more chances of success if it were summoned by the United States. In this connection he said that the question of rationing auxiliary craft would be the most difficult problem facing such a conference, due to France's opposition to submarine limitation.

Shidehara expressed the hope that as soon as the German reparations problem was cleared up the United States would invite the nations of the world to another limitation discussion. In the meantime, the foreign minister said, Japan was not considering the question of preliminary negotiations.

STATE BUDGET IS REPORTED OUT TODAY

Ways and Means Committee Presents Document As Amended to Assembly

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service
Special to the Evening News.
SACRAMENTO, March 3.—Containing increases in general appropriations totaling $711,149 and $157,320 for self-supporting departments, the biennial budget for the state of California was reported out of the Assembly ways and means committee today, as amended. The expenditures listed total $104,141,940.10, but the actual money to be disbursed by the state during 1926-7 will total more than $151,000,000, in round figures, an increase of approximately $35,000,000 during the Richardson regime.

Ample funds to meet this vast sum for state government are now being received from the railroads, which capitulated to the terms of the King tax bill. However, there are appropriation bills pending which, if passed, will practically divest the state of its surplus, it is said by administration leaders.

Chairman Robert McPherson of the Assembly ways and means committee anticipated no attack on the budget bill when it is made a special order of business on the floor of the House Friday or next Monday, at the latest.

Of the self-supporting departments to get increases the state corporation commission is allowed $150,000 for additional deputies to investigate the numerous bankruptcies of stock companies, according to H. Robert Braden of the board of control.

"An unhealthy condition exists in Los Angeles," Mr. Braden said, "where from several years ago, the number jumped to 500 a month and now averages 250 a month seeking permits to sell stock. Of this number 80 per cent fail, this figure applying to the state at large."

Assemblyman Charles H. Denel Chico publisher, protested the corporation commission's free and easy way of permitting stock salesmen to mislead the rural communities of capital, during debate on the increase.

The state insurance department gets $7320 to cover the costs of a deputy overlooked in the budget-making. General appropriation increases include the following:

State teachers' colleges, $68,500; California school for the blind at Berkeley, $10,000; completion of the west wing of San Quentin penitentiary and other repairs advised by the Assembly committee on prisons and reformatories, $168,000, and $10,000

HEAVY VOTE CAST BY GLENDALE RESIDENTS

Citizens Taking Active Interest In Municipal Election of Five City Councilmen on April 14

One of the heaviest votes of the last few weeks was cast today in the naming of possible candidates for the five councilmanic positions, through The Glendale Evening News. The heavy vote indicates residents of Glendale are taking an active interest in the coming municipal election on April 14.

Only two more days for active candidates to wait, for on Thursday petitions will be obtainable at the office of the city clerk. These petitions must be circulated, the required number of signatures secured, and the completed petitions filed with the proper county officials not later than March 25.

A strong slate of non-partisan candidates will take the field, judging from the expressions received from Glendaleans through The Glendale Evening News. Five councilmen are to be elected, as well as city treasurer and school board members.

Blank Appears Daily
Each day there appears in this newspaper a blank form on which Glendale residents are invited to write the names of citizens who they believe are fitted for service on the City Council. Five candidates are to be elected next April.

When any person nominated receives fifty or more nominations, his or her picture and a brief biography will be published in The Glendale Evening News.

Five nominations is the limit any one person is permitted to make. Names of all persons nominated will be published when twenty-five or more votes have been received by any candidate. The nomination blank appears on page two of today's Glendale Evening News. Make use of it at once and mail it to Nomination for the maintenance to the California building, Balboa park, San Diego. A new building for Whittier school for boys was canceled and $15,000 allowed for furniture to equip another building found available. In connection with the Whittier school showing a higher per capita cost than others, Walter D. Wagner, state director of institutions, told the committee this was due to curative psychological research work being conducted there, with the result that 80 per cent of the boys paroled are making good.

Announcement by State Controller Riley that his office had reached an agreement with the board of control in the budget row which had been brewing over the totalization of items which Riley contended would be unconstitutionally appropriated unless segregated, was the subject of felicitation by Attorney General U. S. Webb, who told the committee that the budget, as amended, was strictly within the law.

HERB DOCTORS TELL DETAILS OF PLOT

Assembly Sergeant-at-Arms Denies Any Connection With Bill Scandal

SACRAMENTO, March 3.—Dismissing an attempt by a delegation of legislators to induce him to resign his position in the Legislature, because of his alleged part in the asserted Chinese herb extortion plot, Charles Wilkinson, sergeant-at-arms in the Assembly, announced today that he had refused to quit his post and had told the committee that "I have done nothing to cause me to resign."

Wilkinson, according to the testimony of Fong Wan, Oakland testifier, offered Assemblyman Edward J. Smith, author of the herb bill, $500 to let the measure die.

The legislative investigation into the herb bill scandal today was scheduled to center around the testimony of former Assemblyman William Brackett of Oakland, who is accused by the Chinese herb doctors of having conducted the negotiations in the extortion plot. Brackett failed to appear at the opening of the hearing yesterday.

Charge Is Made
Testimony of Y. L. Chan, Lee Shuck and Dr. Fong Wan, bay district herbalists, brought direct charges that former Assemblyman Brackett solicited bribes to kill the bill, starting with demands for $10,000 and finally dropping to $4500.

Brackett, according to Fong Wan's testimony, asked for $10,000 on one occasion, outlining the proposed division of the money as follows: $2500 to Assemblyman Smith, who would support it with J. E. Hood, pharmacy board attorney; $5000 to Senator Edgar S. Hurley; $1000 to himself (Brackett); $1500 for expenditures.

Further revelation of Oriental intrigue when it tangles with ways of American politics are being brought out by the testimony of the special Assembly committee conducting an investigation into alleged extortion charges involving Assemblyman Smith's bill regulating Chinese herbalists.

Chairman Sidney Graves, Los Angeles, called the committee at 10 o'clock to hear the testimony of Dr. Y. T. Dang, whose hidden hand is seen in the operations of the Oriental lobby here. With T. Y. Hing, he completes the list of Chinese summoned by the committee, Y. L. Chan, Lee Shuck and Fong Wan having given their testimony yesterday afternoon regarding the alleged conversations they had with William Brackett, former assemblyman, and Senator Edgar Hurley, both of Oakland, during the legislative recess in February.

Mysterious Mrs. Smith, pretty assistant to Doctor Fong Wan, also has been summoned from Oakland to testify. Fong testified she caused him to double-cross Warren, Alameda county district attorney, when a trap was set to get Brackett marked currency and report his talk with Fong over the telephone.

"So, out of goodness of my heart, I went to Brackett's house and told his sister not to have him return to my office," the herbalist frankly told the committee, while Attorney Warren and others joined in a hearty laugh. Fong, smiling, admitted he had been arrested "many times" and now is facing charges of practicing medicine without license.

Organization Formed
Doctor Chan, suave and successful mixer of some 4000 herbs from recipes he told the committee are forty-eight centuries old, more or less, was the first witness, and told of conversations with Fong Wan. He also related that the California Chinese Protective association is the name adopted by eighty Chinese herb-

Mr. Desmond, assisted by Mary McVoy and Albert J. Smith, also noted for their screen work, will give a one-act play entitled "The Timber Wolf." Special scenery will accompany Mr. Desmond from Universal studios, so that the act will be complete in every detail. Desmond had a brilliant stage career before going into pictures, and this play was given by him many years ago throughout the country in vaudeville.

Many other famous movie stars will appear on the big program, including Tom Mix, who will tell humorous experiences in the early days of picture making. Louise Dresser, who sent word that she would "tell stories," Madge Bellamy, Lew Cody and Laura La Plante. Each will have something original. Much interest is being created over the appearance of another big star, Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog of the screen. Lieutenant L. L. Duncan, owner and trainer, will bring the dog here and present him on the stage. Lieutenant Duncan said that, if the dog could talk, he would no doubt express his happiness in performing at the War Mothers' benefit because the interests are mutual, Rin-Tin-Tin having been found by Lieutenant Duncan near the firing lines in Belgium during the later days of the war.

alists under which they are fighting the Smith bill.

Chan told how Brackett was to get $750 cash and balance of $5000 was to be placed in the care of a bank cashier. He was corroborated by Lee Shuck and Fong Wan that money was to be split between Brackett, Hurley and Smith.

Assemblyman George Cleveland, a member of the committee, raised a laugh by asking if anything was said about the governor getting a share, to which Chan answered, "No, no, no," not appreciating the humor. Senator Hurley established the fact that he told Fong bribery wouldn't do on the occasion of his visit to the Chinese herb store in company with Brackett at the request of Fong.

CIVIC BODY IS PLAN OF MEETING

Only Few Organizations Send Representatives To Gathering

A disappointingly small number attended the meeting at the Wilson Intermediate school last night when first steps were taken to form a "non-partisan central civic committee" in Glendale. Though invitations were sent to forty-four organizations and clubs to be present and participate in the formation of the committee, only seven organizations responded to roll call. Representatives of the Glendale Republican club, which sponsored the civic committee idea, constituted the bulk of the gathering of thirty people. Several representatives of the Tuesday Afternoon club attended. George D. McDill represented the Y. M. C. A. William A. Horn said he attended in behalf of the Glendale Realty board but that he was not an official delegate from that body and was not authorized to speak for it. A delegation of three representing the Federated Church brotherhood attended unofficially also. C. S. Dunning spoke for the labor unions, and Mrs. E. B. Among other angles of the problem, there will be some enlightening remarks on new bridges across the Los Angeles river, Mr. Kinch promises. The proposed extension of Glendale avenue will also be touched upon by Mr. Watson.

The public is invited to attend this meeting, which will be preceded by a short business session, states Mr. Klein.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

A MAN WITHOUT FAITH—

In himself is like a motor without fuel.
In his town is like a miner in the midst of black damp.
In his government makes a poor neighbor.
In his business cannot expect any one else to invest in it.
In the common people is a dangerous man to put in power.
In humanity is always disappointed when progress is made.
In religion is like a ship without an anchor.

LET THOSE WITH A GRIEVANCE FIGHT

The ordinary citizen sometimes has an idea that is worthy of consideration. Here is one: It is suggested that the plan for drafting the nation's wealth and resources as well as its men in case of war is a good one, but it does not go far enough. In addition there should be a constitutional amendment providing that Congress shall have no power to declare war except in case of an actual invasion of an armed force, until the question of war shall have been submitted to a referendum vote of the people. Under such a referendum each voter should sign his ballot in the presence of the judges and those voting for war should be placed in class one for the draft, those failing or refusing to vote in class two and those voting against war in the third class.

Not such a bad idea. If it were carried out we should realize the predicted peace that shall come when those who have the grievances are the ones who will do the fighting and we should no longer have the picture of war painted by Carlyle years ago when he said:

"There dwell and toil in the British village of Dumdrudge, usually, some five hundred souls. From these, by certain 'natural enemies' of the French, there are successfully selected, during the French war, say thirty able-bodied men. Dumdrudge, at her own expense, has suckled and nursed them; she has, not without difficulty and sorrow, fed them up to manhood, and even trained them to crafts, so that one can weave, another build, another hammer, and the weakest can stand under thirty stone avoirdupois. Nevertheless, amid much weeping and swearing, they are selected; all dressed in red, and shipped away, at the public charges, some two thousand miles, or, say, only to the south of Spain; and fed there until wanted. And now to that same spot, in the south of Spain, are thirty similar French artisans, from a French Dumdrudge, in like manner wending; till at length, after infinite effort, the two parties come into actual juxtaposition, and Thirty stands fronting Thirty, each with a gun in his hand. Straightway the word 'Fire' is given and they blow the souls out of one another, and in place of sixty brisk, useful craftsmen, the world has sixty dead carcasses, which it must bury and anew shed tears for. Had these men any quarrel? Busy as the devil is, not the smallest! They lived far enough apart; were the entirest strangers; nay, in so wide a universe, there was even, unconsciously, by commerce, some mutual helpfulness among them. How then? Simpleton! Their governors had fallen out; and instead of shooting one another, had the cunning to make these poor blockheads shoot. . . . In that fiction of the English Smollett, it is true, the final cessation of war is perhaps prophetically shadowed forth; where the two natural enemies, in person, take each a tobacco pipe filled with brimstone, light the same and smoke in one another's faces, till the weaker gives in; but from such predicted peace era, what blood-filled trenches and contentious centuries may still divide us.

CHILDREN LOSE FRIEND

Exploited childhood in the United States has lost a friend in the death of Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois. It was Senator McCormick who introduced the proposed twentieth amendment to the Constitution and pushed it through both houses of Congress. In explaining his position in sponsoring such an amendment Senator McCormick said:

"Upon the surface, in a country where the care of a child is of paramount concern, the enactment of a federal Child Labor law may seem an easy enough task. Particularly would this seem so considering the many federal laws affecting the general conduct of the people which have been passed by Congress and upheld by the Supreme Court—laws which struck not only at a syndicated prostitution, but in effect determined certain standards of private morals; which closed the channels of interstate commerce to gambling and the mails to obscene literature; which assured honest food and pure drugs to the consumer; which protected the dairyman from the competition of skillfully colored oleomargarine.

"But when Congress twice passed laws protecting children from such industrial exploitation as would injure their health or interfere with their right to be educated, the Supreme Court decided that the Constitution gave Congress no such power. It is now of no use to examine these decisions. They are irrevocable. The thing to do is to secure a Constitutional amendment, so that Congress may then pass a law certainly Constitutional which shall give to all children in this country their full measure of protection from baneful exploitation."

The Child Labor amendment has been ratified by but five states and voted down by one or both houses in a score or more of states. But it is not dead. There is no time limit to its ratification and it may and will be taken up by succeeding legislatures in states that have not yet ratified it.

SOME LAWS ARE GOOD

It is becoming one of the favorite indoor sports of Americans to rail against our legislators, their shortcomings and their apparent desire to regulate our lives in every particular. Nearly everyone has a pet scheme he would like to have enacted into a law and he knows of a lot of legislation that should be repealed. But when a law is functioning so smoothly and beneficially that we cannot hear the whir of the wheels we forget it is a part of the vast machinery which we are so quick to criticize and condemn because some parts are not properly adjusted and others are wholly useless or destructive.

An article in the British Medical Journal brings to mind that our national and pure food laws are working out with salutary results for the consumer. This journal says that the evil of using drugs to preserve food has been growing steadily in England in recent years, and speaks of the excessive amounts of boric acid being used in sausages and sponge cakes. The article claims that many of the ills from which the people of that country suffer are due to preservatives in cream, butter, margarine, sausages, potted meats and fish, bacon, ham, pickles, sauces, coffee extract, jellies, dried fruit, cakes, beverages and many other foods.

Britain is far behind the United States, according to this writer, in dealing with this evil, but he makes the excuse that our cheap petrol and water power provide cold storage facilities and refrigeration that Britain lacks and which make preservatives in food unnecessary. Let us be properly appreciative of our good laws.

EVERYTHING COMES TO HIM WHO WAITS

The Best Defense

By DR. FRANK CRANE

It is necessary for every nation to be ready at all times to defend itself. Probably, when you pin him down to his genuine belief, every pacifist will admit this. Only he thinks that a country has a better defense than armies and navies. Perhaps he is mistaken in this. Perhaps the world is not ready for any other kind of defense. Perhaps it is necessary for every nation, as for every individual, to be prepared to use its physical force, and stand up for its rights.

There is such a thing as yielding too much to others. But whatever may be the cause in this dispute, it seems remarkable to suppose that the best defense of any nation is to make the arts of peace quickly transferable into the arts of war. In other words, if in time of peace we can go on developing certain things that can be quickly converted into warlike means, that is the best way.

With some modifications, our war fleets and our armies represent pure waste except in time of war. They may do some good in time of peace, but that good is wholly out of proportion to their cost. It takes several million dollars to build a warship, and all the good we get out of it is drilling people for some possible war to come. With airships the case is different. Any airship may be available for the business of peace. It can carry letters or mail matter, or express goods. It can furnish a rapid means of communication.

cation from one part of the country to another, or from one country to another.

If we war, all these airships could be immediately converted into weapons of offense.

They are the longest arm yet known. The old arrow used to shoot a few rods; the bullet went further, and the cannon ball further still. The airship goes the farthest of all. It can carry offensive weapons many miles from the base. It can flood foreign cities with poison gas or explosives. Before it vessels at sea are helpless. It is the most perfect weapon of offense known, and hence is the most perfect means of defense for a country.

That country which develops properly its air force is not only increasing its business in time of peace, but its effectiveness in time of war.

It should be stated also that the price of one man-o-war at sea is equivalent to the price of many airships.

It is difficult to get away from the past and adopt new methods, but as far as the future can be envisaged, that nation will be dominant which rules the air. It will not only be the most prosperous in time of peace, but the most dangerous in time of war.

If necessary, the government ought to give aid toward the development of our air force.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Of all the lines that have ever been written about passion, it seems to me that the most telling are these:

The ruling passion, be it what it will,
The ruling passion conquers reason still.

They are by Pope, who also penned these:
Hence one master-passion in the breast,
Like Aaron's serpent, swallows up all the rest.

Every man is moved by some sort of passion. The dominating difference in men lies in their passions. And Mr. A's passion may be one that makes him a power for good, and Mr. B's, one that results in his being a power for evil, but both A and B are but puppets whose strings are jerked by their passions. It has been said that there is going on in the human heart a perpetual generation of passions, so that the overthrow of one is almost always the establishment of another. The result is that the passions often engender their contraries; avarice sometimes produces prodigality; we are often resolute from weakness, and daring from timidity. It is also true that the duration of our passions no more depends upon ourselves than upon our lives.

La Rochefoucauld, that wise Frenchman who wrote in acid with a rapier, opined that passion often makes a madman of the cleverest man, and renders the greatest fools clever.

He observed that those great and brilliant actions which dazzle our eyes, are represented by politicians as effects of great designs, instead of which they are commonly the effects of caprice and often the passions.

"Thus the war between Augustus and Antony, which is attributed to the ambition they had of making themselves masters of the world, was, perhaps, nothing but a result of jealousy."

The passions have an injustice and an interest of their own, which renders it dangerous to obey them, and we ought to mistrust them even when they appear most reasonable.

La Rochefoucauld said that the passions are the only orators that always persuade; they are, as it were, a natural art, the rules of which are infallible; and the simplest man with passion is more persuasive than the most eloquent without it.

Most of us cry with Shakespeare:
"Give me that man that is not passion's slave,
And I will wear him in my heart's core."

Who's Who

The insistent demands of the Philippine Islands for independence and the attention drawn to the islands by the attitude of their leaders has made the Philippine problem a world one in the opinion of Henry Parker Willis, now lecturer on banking at Columbia University and first president of the Philippine National Bank.

Parker believes that when a government is established in the islands it will be better than that of Mexico or Honduras, but not on a par with that of Cuba.

Willis is internationally known as an economist and banking authority. After studying at Western Reserve university and Chicago university he went abroad and continued special studies in economics, history, political science and law at Leipzig and Vienna.

He has filled chairs in economics and political science at Washington and Lee university and George Washington U. He has served as research expert and consulting economist for the federal reserve board, on banking and currency commissions, special missions for banking institutions, and as a correspondent and lecturer. He has written prolifically on banking and money subjects and his works are used as texts. He was born in Weymouth, Mass., August 14, 1874.

Memorial Sculptor Is Ready To 'Fire Away'

NEW YORK, March 3.—Gutson Borglum, sculptor, who was discharged from his task of turning Stone Mountain into a gigantic sculpture memorial to the Confederacy, announced this afternoon that he would return to Greensboro, S. C., Friday, to "face the music."

A charge of malicious mischief had been lodged against him for destroying the miniature model of work upon the Georgia peak. "The firing has only begun," the sculptor said.

CLOTHING TRADE

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 3.—Increased activity in clothing and shoe manufacture here has resulted in a gain of one per cent in local payrolls in the last month. The average earnings of workers has risen $1 to week.

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as an unimportant day. Although Neptune is in benefic aspect in the morning, Uranus is adverse.

Whatever concerns the keen activity of the mind, or depends on mental alertness should benefit.

While this day should be most auspicious for all intellectual tasks it is well not to trust the judgment regarding matters of importance.

It is better today to profit by the knowledge of the past than to depend on one's decisions of the present.

Under this rule there may be a tendency to be critical and difficult to please. Silence will be golden unless kindly words can be spoken.

Much thinking and many snap judgments probably will be evident in the expressions of individuals and newspapers, forethought will be even more liable to fermentation than it has been in the last year or two.

Interest in subjects will be widespread as the year advances, the seers prophesy, and there will be many false teachers.

Mercury is in a place beneficial to postal affairs, publishers, editors and writers.

There will be an increased interest in serious reviews and the lightest sort of fiction, for in literature as in everything else there will be a tendency toward extremes.

Places of amusement may have rather disappointing times this spring, for there will be counter interests that demand the dollars.

Fires in theaters again are foreshadowed and a stampede in a crowd may cause serious loss of life.

Children's health should be especially safeguarded at this time when there may be increased mortality among the young.

Persons whose birthdate it is may be inclined toward removal or change. The year may be unsettled, but may be leading to better times.

Children born on this day may be restless and fond of adventure.

Today's Poem

HOW CRUEL ARE THE PARENTS
How cruel are the parents
Who riches only prize,
And to the wealthy booby
Poor Woman sacrifice!

Meanwhile the hapless Daughter
Has but a choice of strife;
To shun a tyrant Father's hate—
Become a wretched wife.

The ravening hawk pursuing,
The trembling dove thus flies,
To shun impending ruin,
Avails her pinion tries.

Till, of escape despairing,
No shelter or retreat,
She trusts the ruthless falconer,
And drops beneath his feet.

—Burns.

CHOKER BEADS

NEW YORK, March 3.—Choker
beads have played out their string.
A woman may be choked but no longer with beads since the collars of the newest frocks have become so high and so tight that a choker string would be entirely concealed.

The latest strings therefore are of moderate length falling only to the bust.

It is probable that a quiet life will be enjoyed.

KYMS

This is an article I wrote primarily for the gaining class last year, but it is just as good for you, so do read on.

The word "KYMS" is a wonderful new word which has been added to our vocabulary by Samuel S. Drury, author of "Backbone," a splendid book on the development of character. If Mr. Drury had contributed only this one wonderful word he would have done a big service. This word is taken from the initials of "Keep Your Mouth Shut."

In an old book written 100 years ago on obesity, a Dr. Fothergill was credited with saying that the cure for obesity was to keep the eyes open and the mouth shut. That's not so bad, is it?

However, it is not to our F. F. that this article "KYMS" is addressed, for I have not finished with those of you who are T. T. T.'s. I have taken up the importance of increasing the circulation of the blood. I want to talk on exercise and I will come to KYMS in time.

Just as it is important for those who are overweight to exercise, in order to accelerate their circulation and bring fresh blood to the tissues, increase the respiration and better oxygenate the blood and tissues to help the removal of waste matter, to activate the torpid organs, etcetera, so is it important for you who are underweight to exercise. Only in your case, you should not do so much of it.

And the same setting-up exercises are just as good for you as for the F. F. We are just now beginning to realize the importance of a daily amount of some good strenuous exercise for all of us—fat, thin, and the rare normals.

The best kind of exercise, everyone knows, is the play exercise—tennis, golf, basketball, swimming and so on—but not all can avail themselves of those forms. However, we can all do the standard setting-up exercises, and we should do them daily.

There is one exercise, however, that those of you who are thin should sedulously avoid, and that is talking too much. Talking too much I would not say was a habit that was confined to underweight persons, but I warn you T. T. T.'s against it especially because it uses up so much of your energy.

Avoid talking much and never talk of your ailments or your troubles if you have any. Someone has said that a bore is a person who, when you ask him: "How are you?" immediately begins to tell you. The salutation "how are you?" is not intended as a clinical opening, and there is only one proper type of answer.

Bride: "I have scratched my beautiful mahogany table. What can be done about it?"

Answer: You can repair the damage by the following method: If your table is brown mahogany, go to an artists' supply store and buy a tube of brown paint; thin a little of this with turpentine and apply it to the scratches with a fine camel's hair brush. Another way of darkening scratches on brown mahogany is the following: Dissolve one teaspoonful of permanganate of potassium crystals in one pint of water and apply this brown stain with the brush like paint. If, however, your table is red mahogany, apply a little Bismark-brown aniline powder dissolved in alcohol; if too red when dry, go over the scratches again with a diluted solution of permanganate of potassium, or with artists' oil paint in the shade known as "burnt sienna." Finish the scratches by rubbing with any good furniture polish.

Young Housewife: "I live on a farm, far from the shops. I have seen pictures of flower bowls in magazines which had some sort of wire netting over the top to hold cut flowers upright. Where can I buy one of these? I have bowls but not the wire contrivance."

Answer: I suppose any large department store to which you might write, would sell you the wire flower holder by mail. But why not make one yourself? Buy a six-inch square of galvanized wire netting, which has a one-quarter-inch square mesh. Turn down its four corners to serve as feet. Then paint the wire green (or the color of your bowl). Stand the wire holder inside the bowl and it is ready to have flower-stems thrust through it. For long-stemmed flowers, place a slightly smaller square on top of the other wire and pass the stems through both. By making the little contrivance yourself, you will have just as good results as if you bought one—and you will save your money. It's just in little ways like this that our pennies go, isn't it?

Mrs. P.: "How can I revive faded colors in a child's cotton dress?"

Answer: A spoonful of vinegar to each quart of rinsing water will sometimes revive faded colors, particularly when the fading was caused by using washing soda and strong soaps in the laundering. But I too have been hanging the dress in the sun to dry, or in the dyes were poor, there is little hope.

Hear Mr. Kemp

Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, gave a talk at the meeting of the Girls' Friendly society last night in the Guild hall. He also stated that the members should make some personal sacrifice during Lent or read a book on some religious subject. Mrs. Pollock, who is press agent for Miss Florence Newbold, extension secretary for the Girls' Friendly society, from New York headquarters, gave a talk and told of plans for a series of study classes on social service work and work among girls, which would be conducted in April, the exact date to be announced later. Miss Georgia Campbell, president, directed the business meeting, when members decided to hold a dance some time in April instead of presenting a play as had first been planned. ## NEW DISPLAY ROOMS

—Kaeding Construction Co., Contractors

In speaking of the new Franklin model, Mr. Beggs said: "Franklin has done the unexpected. This is the consensus of opinion among those who have seen the new designs, styled by de Causse, on public display this week for the first time. From the point of view of the car in the street, the most striking thing about them is the radical way in which they differ from anything that Franklin has ever produced in the past. Until he looks at the hubcaps or insignia, the average man will not be able to say even whether the cars were made here or abroad. The changes which first strike the eye are those in the hood. The straight radiator effect of entire new lines and proportions now places the old inclined grille and rounded-hood contour, which has been peculiar to Franklin for years. The wheelbase has been lengthened and frame lowered, bringing the body three inches nearer the ground. The lines of the new cars combine smartness and conservatism in a way heretofore not found in American stock design. From the point of view of the motor car designer, the cars have a custom look throughout, which also reflects certain foreign style elements. This is explained by the fact that the pattern cars were actually custom built by de Causse, and first shown by him at America's custom-body builders' show at the Commodore Salon in New York a year ago. These models cost $10,000 each to build. At the Salon they made such an impression that they were given the most prominent location on the floor."

The Kaeding Construction Co. was the general contractor of the building. The subcontractors were: G. A. Fjelstrom, wiring; Custer-Pesch Roof Co.; Glendale Electric Co., electrical fixtures; T. S. Evadne took the glove, glanced at it and handed it back. "It is not mine. I do not wear that make of glove," she said. "This belongs to Miss Hurst. If you doubt it," she added, answering Breitman's look of incredulity, "look at the gloves on the table which you took from my bag. You will see that they are two sizes larger than this—I couldn't get Miss Hurst's gloves on. She has a very small and beautiful hand."

Flint picked up the gloves from the table and verified Evadne's statement, casting a meaning glance at Breitman. Denis looked on uneasily. "It can't be Miss Estelle that dropped it if that is what the mistress is trying to make out," he insisted. "She's out to dinner. Miss Estelle is; she's not been near the place at all."

"Well, it plainly is not Mrs. Hurst's," said Flint. "Sure, then, I must have overlooked it after all," conceded Denis tremulously. "I'm growing old, sir; my eyes aren't what they were. That's how it was, sir." The old man was evidently perturbed.

Flint drew the glove he had taken from Breitman thoughtfully through his fingers as if seeking in it a clue to the mystery. "I suppose Miss Hurst will be home soon," he said. "Where is she dining, Mrs. Hurst?"

"At Mrs. Jack Preston's," "Do you know when Mr. Hurst came home, Denis?" asked the inspector suddenly, harking back to the question of time.

"I do not, sir. He must have let himself in with his latchkey after I went out."

"Colonel Stanford's butler said he left there shortly after 8, you remember, inspector," prompted Flint. "It wouldn't take him five minutes to get here."

"That doesn't leave much time between the departure of Denis and your husband's arrival for your visit to the safe, Mrs. Hurst," commented Breitman dryly.

"Why should you take it for granted that Mr. Hurst came immediately to this room?" demanded Graham.

Breitman pointed to a chair near the door which Graham had not noticed. "Because there are his coat and muffer; Mr. Graham. He didn't so much as stop in the hall to remove them."

"I see, but how do you know that he remained here?"

"A good point, Mr. Graham—I don't know. But in that case why should Mrs. Hurst have needed to say that she took the necklace in the afternoon when it was not there instead of in the evening when it was?"

Suppose, Mrs. Hurst, you tell us quietly just how it was. I'm not accusing anybody, I'm just trying to get at the truth of the matter. But your man here has brought a definite accusation against you, and it's up to you to refute it. Come now."

Evadne's hand went again to her heart in the little gesture which she was learning to dread. "For God's sake, why doesn't she speak!" he thought.

Breitman waited a moment. "You won't help me, then?" he said at last. "Well, let us see how the thing looks. It's this way, isn't it? As Mr. and Miss Hurst are dining out you let all the servants off for the evening. How about your own dinner by the way?"

"I had a headache, faltered Evadne. "I had a cup of soup early in my room."

"I see. Then, having, I take it," fortunately recovered from your headache, you are seized with a desire for your diamonds. What did you want them for, Mrs. Hurst?"

The suddenness of the question startled Evadne into speech: "I—I wanted—I wanted to see how they went with a new dress which had just come home."

"Ah, a natural explanation! So, having quite recovered from your indisposition, and, woman-like, wanting to get the full effect of a new dress, you go to the safe, just chancing on the possible five minutes when the library may have been empty, get out the necklace, put it in the bag which you happened very conveniently to have brought with you. Then you throw on a cloak, thus hiding a mysteriously bloodstained sleeve, and slip out of the house to visit a friend who, so you had been informed earlier, was not at home. And again you chanced unaccountably to miss meeting Mr. Hurst who, if he had not already entered the house, must have been hurrying down the street. Do I put it correctly, Mrs. Hurst?"

"Yes—no—oh, I don't know. I can't think!" she cried desperately.

"Don't think—just tell the truth."

The inspector's harsh, peremptory tone stung her back to self-control. She waited for an instant, thinking quickly, her clasped hands crushed against her lips. Then she threw back her head and faced the inspector valiantly.

"Very well, I will tell the truth," she said firmly. "I ought to have told it at once, but I was silly enough to be frightened. I am quite alone in a strange land, among people who are not friendly to me. I was afraid if I told the truth you wouldn't believe me, that you might think me guilty of my husband's murder."

STAGE AND SCREEN

VIEWS AND PREVIEWS—NEWS NOTES FROM STUDIOS

Compiled By Members of The Glendale Evening News Staff

DOBINSON PLAYERS
The Dobinson Players in "Barium Was Right" opened last night at the Playhouse under the direction of Fred J. Butler, with a cast especially selected for this screamingly funny comedy. It was a gala event, as the house was filled to capacity and many screen and footlight favorites were in evidence.

The Dobinson Players have been forging to the front but at no time have they ever reached such heights as in this play, "Barium Was Right." Mr. Butler as a director proved himself the artist. This is a production which no one can afford to miss, and if one wants to be entertained and forget his troubles, see the play and prepare to laugh from the opening act to the conclusion.

The plot concerns itself with the attempts of a young man, played by Joseph McManus, to win the hand of a winsome miss, played by Miss Mary Alpaugh by increasing the value of her father's Long Island estate through discreetly provocative demands of rumors that the place was used as a burial ground for doubloons and pieces of eight by the pirates of old. The home is leased as a hotel and thereby hangs the tale. The many kinds of people who wish to register at this hotel, and the rumors of treasures hidden throughout the place with doors slamming, men hiding under beds, chimneys climbed, up and down panels that open in walls, shake first in the night, maids that explore cans of

Mr. McManus as Fred Farrel was at his best. Miss Alpaugh as Miriam Locke, excellent, and Frances Hutton as Phoebe O'Dare was admirably cast as were all the players. The rest of the cast includes William Chapman, Laura Winston, Joe Cox, Richard Ehlers, Ethan Allan, William H. Stephens, Margaret Carr, Charles Gregg, Robert Morse and Harry J. Glazier.

THE GATEWAY
The Gateway theatre is showing for the last time today "The Lighthouse by the Sea," featuring the wonder dog, Rin-Tin-Tin. This is the melodramatic sensation by Owen Davis. It is a gigantic production which stirs the imagination. Wednesday Mr. Roper, manager of the Gateway, offers an exceptionally good bill of selected vaudeville and the big feature picture, "Worldly Goods," a laughing, rollicking comedy-drama, for that day only.

THE GLENDALE
"The Shadow of the East" concludes today at the Glendale theatre. Wednesday and Thursday the picture is "Trouping with Ellen."

THE T. D. & L.
Cecil B. DeMille's production, "The Golden Bed," concludes today at the T. D. & L. theatre. Wednesday and Thursday the picture is "The Devil's Cargo."

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1925, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

While hopping through the woods one day, wondering when he was going to have an adventure, and what kind it would be, Uncle Wiggily heard a sad voice singing in a tree. At least it sounded like singing, though it was very doleful. This is what the voice sang:

"Alas! Alas! 'Twill come to pass I'll sit in the trees and slowly freeze. I came too soon. This isn't June. Oh, what'll I do? Boo-hoo! Boo-hoo!"

"Goodness me! This is very sad!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Some one is in a lot of trouble. I wonder if I can help him."

He looked about amid the trees, fearing perhaps he might see some of the bad chaps. But he only saw a cold and shivering bird on a limb of a great oak, the brown leaves of which, crisp and dried, rustled in the March wind.

"Hello!" cried the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose politely. "Who are you?"

"I am the Early Bird," was the answer from the feathered chap who had been singing so dolefully.

"Are you the early bird who catches the worm?" the bunny asked, cross-word-puzzle like and joking.

"No, but that bird is my cousin," was the answer. "When I say I am the Early Bird I mean I came up from my warm home in the south too early. I thought they said March was spring, so I started. But I am cold and hungry."

ACADEMIES OF ADVENTISTS TO MERGE

Action Expected Today To Unite Institutions As Expediency

Merging of the Glendale and La Sierra academies operated by the Southern California conference of Seventh Day Adventists was to be completed at a business session being held this afternoon at the Glendale church on North Isabel street.

Academy headquarters will be established at La Sierra which will be maintained also as a boarding school. The Glendale unit will be operated as a branch of the union of the two institutions will permit closer co-operation, it was pointed out.

Members of the Glendale Sanitarium & Hospital association and the Southern California conference met in joint session this morning, when the two legal associations holding and operating the Glendale sanitarium and hospital were merged into one organization.

Finances Good
There have been two associations here since the construction of the new hospital and sanitarium with its separate governing body. The old one has continued to function. A committee was selected to attend to the details of the merger.

The treasurer's report, read this morning, indicated that the finances of the Southern California conference are in better condition now than ever before. Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the Pacific Union conference, is presiding at the meetings, which are expected to end tonight.

RECEIVE BIDS ON SEWER SYSTEM

More Than Sixteen Miles Of Work Is Involved In Proceedings

Bids from twenty-two competing companies for construction of the nine sections of the Glendale intercepting sewer mains were opened and read this morning before the City Council, and were referred to the engineering department for checking and report. The engineering firm of Burns, McDonnell & Smith, retained by the city to supervise construction of Glendale's $1,600,000 sewer system, will cooperate in checking the bids, and a report will be rendered to the council at the meeting of Thursday, March 5, when the successful bidders will probably be named. The bids averaged under $275,000 each.

Over Sixteen Miles
The work for which bids were considered this morning involves over sixteen miles of sewer mains and interceptors, according to Chester A. Smith of the firm of Burns, McDonnell & Smith. Many of the bidders submitted alternate bids, for vitrified clay pipe and for concrete pipe. Following is the full list of twenty-two bidders:

James Construction Co., Los Angeles; Culjak-Bebek Co., Los Angeles; Frank C. Butterfield, Glendale; Robert Metcalf, Los Angeles; Martin Limunovich, Los Angeles; M. G. Brkich, Los Angeles; Campbell Construction Co., Los Angeles; R. E. Zaich, Glendale; Joe Chutuk, Los Angeles; C. E. Green, Los Angeles; Cox & Teget, G. W. Kemper, Alhambra; M. Miller, Los Angeles; S. Watson, Los Angeles; Veckisch & Tomich, Los Angeles; H. R. Erdman, Alhambra; Artukovich & Marks, Los Angeles.

The bid of the last-named bidder was rejected because no accompanying bond could be found. The council adjourned to reconvene at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

News wan' ads bring results.

RELIEF WORK IN NEAR EAST TOLD

State Director Speaks At Exchange Club Luncheon On Needed Charity

Work and accomplishments of the Near East relief were told members of the Glendale Exchange club today noon by Charles H. Emmons, director of Near East relief work in Arizona, New Mexico and Southern California. Mr. Emmons described the activities of the Armenians and refugees, and outlined some of the incidents connected with their nations in past centuries. The meeting was held at the Masonic temple, with President William Baker presiding.

Mr. Emmons was a member of the American Good Will delegation to Greece in 1923, and, after spending several weeks in Greece, visited Turkey, Syria and Palestine, inspecting the work of Near East relief and visiting its orphanages, trade schools and hospitals in and around Beirut, Nazareth and Jerusalem. In all these countries he visited the refugee camps, where tens of thousands of Armenians and Greek Christians were assembled after their deportation from Turkey.

Mr. Emmons consulted with the governmental and church officials of Greece and the Holy Land in reference to the work of American relief agencies and concerning the establishment of American educational institutions in Greece especially.

Visitors Present
P. J. Smith, vice-president of the Exchange club at Highland Park, Mich.; A. V. Newhouse, also of Highland Park, and W. S. Evans, treasurer of the club at Philadelphia, made short addresses. Carl Christy reported on the attendance contest.

The club adopted a resolution asking that Louis O'Neil of San Jose, present state president, consider taking the office for another term. The attendance prize, donated by George Orsibet, was won by H. V. Vanderwood. The club will meet with the Long Beach club next Monday noon.

This committee, composed of President C. W. Menke, Herman Nelson and T. J. Menke, will seek the active cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations to gain this extra service for Glendale.

Preston L. Hatch, manager of the Glendale-Montrose line, addressed the Advancement association at noon today declaring that adequate and comfortable service from Glendale Junction into Los Angeles, would be successful for the Glendale avenue line. Unless patronage is increased, the service will shortly be discontinued, he said.

Avenue Extension
Extension of Glendale avenue through Atwater Park to connect with Fletcher drive and the depression of the Southern Pacific tracks, two projects which have the approval of C. Gordon Whitnall, head of the Los Angeles Planning commission, were discussed by S. C. Kinch. The lowering of the tracks would eliminate all dangerous grade crossing in the city, Mr. Kinch said, with but little expense or trouble.

Lloyd H. Wilson, chairman of the park board discussed problems of tree planting and parks at the meeting today. He suggested that the Advancement association support the planting of coconut palm trees along the full length of Chevy Chase drive. The meeting took place at the Harriet Mae Tea room, President Ingledue presiding.

NAVAL OFFICER IS DENIED PETITION

Lieutenant Alleged Insane Is Preparing To Ask Aid Of Federal Court

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—Attorneys for Lieutenant Frank E. Kennedy, U. S. N., incarcerated in the Napa state insane asylum where he says he was sent by Mare Island navy officers to prevent his revealing an alleged naval scandal in far eastern waters, were today preparing to appeal to the federal courts in behalf of their client following dismissal in the Napa county superior court yesterday of a writ of habeas corpus through which they sought to publicly inquire into the sanity of the officer.

Judge Percy S. King of the Napa court decided that a civil court had no jurisdiction to hear a habeas corpus proceeding over a United States naval officer.

SLUGGING MATCH IN VERNON BOUT

Barrett and Dide Berco to Hook Up Tonight For
Main Event Battle

Fight fans who delight in seeing scrappers swap punches in hopes of landing a knockout blow first will find much to revel in tonight at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena, when Bobby Barrett and Dide Berco, a couple of welterweights, step out for ten or less rounds. Both are slugger fools and the battle is expected to end with one man stretched on the canvas while the ref swings his arm for the ten-count.

No less a fighter than Mickey Walker rises up to insist that Barrett, the Philadelphia phenom, carries a mean wallop in his left mitt and a terrible jolt in his right. Barrett stopped Jimmy Duffy in Philadelphia in three rounds. Berco is a southpaw slugger, and a good mixer. It ought to be a whale of a battle. Two snappy six-round bouts are on the card. Joe Ryder and Billy Hart, 118-pounders, will mix in the semi-windup and Roy Cliffe and Harry Lee, heavyweight scrappers, will appear in the special spot. On the four-round part of the menu will be Jimmy Powell and Bud Berco, brother of the main event, while Morrie Eagleson and Danny Carlson will open the show.

Ring Idol Coming to U. S.

BELMONTE, old Spain's blood and sand idol, who will favor the United States with a visit, is regarded as a hero in his own land, all because he has slain more than 2,000 bulls and is only 30 years old.

By MARGERY PICKARD

NEW YORK, March 3.—Presenting El Senor Belmonte, greatest of all the matadors.

He is the idol of Spain, more popular in that land than Babe Ruth is in this. He is less than thirty years old, but he has amassed a fortune of more than a million dollars and he lives like a prince.

All because he has slain 2000 bulls.

Belmonte is favoring the United States with a visit. His principal reason for coming, he says, is to see his old friend, Zuloaga, famous Spanish artist, now visiting over here. The Spanish colony is planning to give him a great banquet to which leaders in all branches of sport will be invited. Belmonte is handsome. His portrait, painted by Zuloaga (himself a matador in an amateur way), and showing him in his ring costume of golden yellow satin embroidered in gold, makes the girl's heart flutter. He has educated himself to enjoy the company of writers, painters, sculptors, musicians and considers himself somewhat of an artist—in blood and sand.

KENNEL CLUB TO STAGE DOG SHOW

Pasadena Will Be Scene Of Event Friday, Saturday;
Many Entries In

"Every man to his hobby," says Dr. F. P. Miller, president of the Pasadena Kennel club and active worker for the coming Pasadena dog show which is to be held at the former home of the Pasadena Furniture Co., on North Raymond avenue and Holly street, Friday and Saturday of this week.

"Some like golf, others prefer tennis, while for my part the study of dogs furnishes me the necessary recreation. There is a great deal more to the study of these intelligent animals than appears on the surface. The dog has a lesson to teach which all mankind would do well to learn. I have reference to that somewhat rare quality 'loyalty.' A dog may be mean, he may be even treacherous to others, but to his master whom he loves he will always remain loyal. Another conclusion which I have arrived at after much study with these interesting creatures is that they are fully capable of using reason. This statement is often refuted by others, but experience and experiments I have made in my own kennels have satisfactorily proved to me that dogs do think."

In commenting on the coming Pasadena show, Dr. Miller states it will be the largest exhibit of its kind ever staged on the Pacific coast. He further claims that the board of international judges selected, and the exciting competition between several of the nationally known dogs to be exhibited will draw record-breaking crowds.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Nothing has happened as yet about the Harry Wills challenge of Jack Dempsey, which has been filed with the boxing commission. What will be done? No one seems to know.

The whole matter seems to be closely tied up in politics. The milk fund promoters are trying their best to put over a show with Rickard doing the promoting and Dempsey and Gibbons the attraction.

Paddy Mullins, Wills' manager, won't stand for this, and is whipping his political friends into line to try for a showdown. Anything is likely to happen.

So far as the boxing commission is concerned there seems to be no mystery why it hesitates about acting upon Wills' challenge. Dempsey has permitted his license to appear as a boxer in this state to lapse. Therefore it is difficult to see where in the commission has any authority to order him to follow its mandate.

Again, how could Dempsey be induced to risk his title in a show where the promoter splits the profits with charity?

The whole thing is a mixup and yet so powerful are the interests back of the milk fund bouts that it is certain something very interesting in its bearing on the present heavyweight situation will come out of it.

SECOND ROUND OF LOOP WILL OPEN

Radio and Christian Church Teams Mix Tonight At Harvard High Gym

The Radios and Christian church teams will hook up tonight at the Harvard High school gym in the opening game of the second round of play in the Glendale Merchants' basketball league. The Radios finished the first round of play in second place, but would have tied the Huli Trucks for first place had the Radios been able to play their full schedule.

The Christian churchmen finished the first half of the season in the cellar position, dropping all six games. The team scored sixty points, or an average of ten points each game, while their opponents scored 273 points.

Tomorrow night the Huli Trucks and Standard Oilers are billed to start. The truckmen won five games and lost one, while the Oilers finished the first round with two wins and three defeats. Thursday night the Calla Lily and M. E. church will play.

Sport topics will be discussed at the banquet. The retail drivers will attend.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1923

STOCKTON, March 3.—Branch Rickey stole a long ways from home when he brought the St. Louis Cardinals to Stockton to train. Any one who has followed him must also steal a long ways from home. Through the brisk, boring winds of Nebraska, through a blizzard in Wyoming through arid desert lands and picturesque buttes of Nevada and finally through five feet of snow in the Sierras the writer has pursued him all the way to California to see just what he has under cover.

The two "Big Betties" of his team, Hornsby and Bottomley, are here to see what they can do toward trying to find some place in the National league that will make St. Louis look better than it has in the past.

These two, if they could be put together conjointly, may make the best batting pair that the National league has seen in three years. Hornsby has the opportunity ahead of him to be the greatest batter the National league has seen since Hans Wagner retired from baseball.

A man of the right physique, lacking the careless, indifferent style that the other great player had—for Wagner was indifferent to everything except his base hits—Hornsby instead seems to have his whole soul wrapped up in the fact that he may be as good as those who have stood before him in baseball, including Anson.

Today, while the writer talked to Hornsby, he declared that barring a broken leg or some such similar calamity, he said he thought he had a chance to win a place among the great men of baseball.

"It's hard to say what will happen to a baseball player," he said. "I have often thought during the past two years what it would mean to me to gain a place among great players who have made baseball history what it is."

"Somehow, it has occurred to me that there is more in this game of baseball than I thought there was when I first began to play. I suppose all youngsters, when they break in, feel as I did when I first started. I knew nothing except the natural impulse to try and hit the ball—after that to do the best I could."

"Since then I have found out that hitting the ball the right way means a great deal to a baseball player. I reckoned, like all kids, that my first idea was to play baseball like all kids do—the best they know how. Now I know that there is more behind the game than that. You not only play with all the enthusiasm that a kid displays but also with the prestige and responsibility of contending for a championship in one of the big leagues of the United States."

"Personally, I feel that I can carry on the record I have started, that possibly I have a chance to make as good a record—perhaps not as great as that of Wagner—but still to tread closely on his heels. I have signed a contract with St. Louis for three years. I am at ease in mind and like any ball player who feels that his future is established, I am not worrying anything about the future except that I may do my best."

"How about hitting to right field?" he was asked.

"Seems to me that if a man has that worry off his mind, which means that he must drive the ball irrespective of placing it, he is likely to cut loose with all his strength and 'pull' it," was Hornsby's answer.

"I suppose I am naturally a free swing hitter, but I think now that I am in a position to try to place the ball that I can hit just as hard in right field as any batter who ever lived. This is not a boast—it is simply my personal idea of what I can do."

Whereupon he walked up to the plate and promptly hit a line drive to right field that chased all of Branch Rickey's outfielders so far back to the fences that they lost the ball.

Rickey came out here, not to develop as a showman, but because a personal friend of his wished him to come to Stockton this year and train his team. He is just as well off, so far as the sun is concerned, as he was in Bradenton, Florida, one year ago. The sun of West Florida is

EXPECT DECISION ON TITLE BATTLE

New York Commission May
Settle Gibbons-Wills
Challenges Today

By LARRY SMITS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Now that Jack Dempsey has made it known that although a bridegroom, he is still willing to fight in public, the determination of when and with whom rests with the New York State Athletic commission. The question will be taken up at the commission's meeting this afternoon and the critics of fistfists should have an answer before night to the question which had kept them palpitating for several months.

Both Tom Gibbons of St. Paul and Harry Wills of the water front and Harlem are eager to swap socks with the champion and it will rest with the commission whether both or one and which one will have the chance. The most weighty problem before the wise men of the commission is whether Gibbons and Wills should meet in an elimination match before either has a crack at Dempsey.

This would satisfy the customers, but would leave Dempsey with but one of the two matches he wants before fall.

RADIOLAND HEARS ABOUT AUTO SHOW

Motor Car Dealers Present Program Last Night At Times' Station, KHJ

Uncle John of KHJ, the Times, told the world last night about the forthcoming automobile show of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association, March 7 to 14, inclusive. He also spread the news of the two-day air rodeo at Glendale airport, March 14 and 15. The program was arranged for the local car dealers by Gould H. Warren of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the radio program committee.

One of the high spots on the program was a comedy dialogue on "Our City Hall" by Uncle John and Lynn P. Clark, president of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association. Numbers were given by the following artists: Albert Bryant, tenor, a Glendale boy; Hatch Graham, banjo; Les Roscoe, pianist; the Titian Trio, violin, cello and piano, and Lewis S. Klein, harmonica and auto harp.

Jake Schaefer Looms As Billiard Champion

CHICAGO, March 3.—The international 15.2 ball-line billiard tournament went into its final stages today with the title all but awarded to young Jake Schaefer whose playing has provided the thrills of the contest. Willie Hoppe, champion, was definitely in the discard as a result of his disastrous defeat by Edouard Horemans, Belgian, last night.

YOSEMITE CONFERENCE

ATTEMITS VALLEY, March 3.—Superintendent W. B. Lewis returned here after several months' absence in the east, during which time he attended national park service conferences in Washington on matters pertaining to the Yosemite.

no better than the sun of Stockton, the temperature is about the same and he is training on a ball field the fences of which are far back.

Rickey has a very strong batting team. There are indications that it may play rugged baseball, insofar as the perfection of the team is likely to make what it is likely to make a great deal by its batting what it may lack in fielding. The team looks better in its preliminary practice, having been here four days, than it looked in Florida last year at the same time.

BETTER BUILT HOMES—Not Merely Houses

We help you make homebuilding a safe investment

If the only thought we had in mind was to build the cheapest home possible we could probably reduce our costs slightly. But our policy has always been to put the most quality into a home and to render the maximum service which in reality represents a saving to the home-builder of 20% or more. Pacific Homes are planned by master architects and are built of the highest grade lumber and perfect mill work. Our price for building your home will make it a good investment and worth far more than you pay for it. Our price system is based on production costs plus a small profit but our production costs are far lower than the prevailing market prices as the materials are secured direct from Pacific mill. If you own a vacant lot you cannot afford to let it remain idle. Convert it into income property. If it is in a desirable location we can arrange liberal financing.

FIRST LADY'S MOTHER IN CAPITAL

Mrs. Goodhue Arrives For
Visit At White House
First Time

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Her first time away from her beloved New England, Mrs. Lamira Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Coolidge, is a guest at the White House. Mrs. Goodhue had looked forward to the long journey from Northampton, Mass., to Washington with a great deal of misgiving. It was quite an undertaking for her to essay such a trip, but now that she is here she is looking forward to the subdued gayeties of the inauguration and the "season" to follow with excited anticipation. Mrs. Coolidge, an only child had been urging her mother for a long while to come on to Washington but the latter could not bring herself to leave home until now.

Since her husband's death, almost two years ago, Mrs. Goodhue has made her home in the same little double house where the Coolidges lived until the presidency gave them their present fine home on Pennsylvania avenue. The Coolidges lived in that little double house at Northampton for practically one-half of their married life. Mrs. Goodhue formerly lived in Burlington, Vt., and it was there that Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were married, a beautiful autumn afternoon in October, 1905. The first lady's mother is not a native Vermonter, however, her birthplace being in New Hampshire. The little triangle of New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Vermont has been her horizon for more than 70 years and only recently she confided to her neighbors that she looked upon the journey to Washington much as the old pioneers must have looked upon their perilous pilgrimages across the continent in the days of the prairie schooners. However, for Mrs. Goodhue, the trip between Northampton and the White House was made almost in the space of a single rising and setting of the sun.

Mrs. Coolidge's father was A. L. Goodhue of Burlington, and if a family secret may be told, he was a Democrat. That fact, nevertheless, did not deter Calvin Coolidge, staunch Republican, when he laid siege to the heart and hand of the daughter. Burlington people love to tell the story of Calvin's momentous trips from Northampton to Burlington when he was "courting." Grace Goodhue was at that time a teacher in a school for deaf mutes at Northampton and Calvin felt he was not making an overwhelming amount of progress. His sweetheart had another beau, a doctor, and the future president-to-be thought the old "saw bones" was getting the better of him. Calvin decided upon strategy. He took the train for Burlington. There he went to Mrs. Goodhue. He felt she was a friend at court. He told her his story. He outlined his prospects. He insisted a lawyer, struggling though he was, had much better chances in the world than a doctor. According to the story, Mrs. Goodhue listened in good part and then shook her old-fashioned head with a wan little smile. She told Calvin he would have to fight his own battle.

Calvin did and hence the present visit of the little lady who declined to interfere in the affairs of her daughter's heart to the home of the first lady of the land. Mrs. Goodhue is the very picture of the motherly woman and has many traits of her daughter. She is a bright and entertaining conversationalist. Mrs. Coolidge is planning a number of quiet little affairs in her honor. Family Reunion
The president's father, Col. John C. Coolidge, is expected shortly and when he arrives it will be a sort of old-home week at the White House. "Calvin has sent me an invitation," Col. Coolidge confided to his neighbors at Plymouth, Vermont, a few days ago. "And," he added, "when I make up my mind to go, it won't take me long to pack up my belongings and start."

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 3.—The speculative community gave full vent to the exuberance of its feelings today by rushing into the stock market to buy the active oil, railroad, motor and special stocks at gradually rising prices. With most of the statistical averages showing a new high of the year and with a number of important developments in industrial news, dividends, etc., pending the specialists in various stocks marked prices higher and held them at these levels during most of the session.

Industrial developments were related principally to the prospect of dividend increases by American Locomotive, Mack Trucks, American Can and other industrial stocks which have been so spectacular in their market movements. Weakness in the St. Paul issues, in which heavy selling occurred, was a handicap to the advance in the rail stocks. Considerable uneasiness relative to St. Paul's ability to avoid receivership resulted in heavy liquidation of the stocks and bonds today, with consequent declines in prices to near the low of the year. The high-priced industrial leaders like American Can, Cast Iron Pipe, General Electric, American Car & Foundry and Mack Trucks were conspicuously strong all through the session with price gains of from 3 to 10 points. Sales today, 1,944,100 shares; bonds, $15,698,000.

Of Glendale's Station

A photograph of the Glendale station of the Southern Pacific will be one of seventeen taken over the Southern Pacific system, to be included in a personal album now being compiled for President Sproul of that road. A special photographer from San Francisco made the trip to Glendale yesterday to take the picture. Elaborate preparations were made at the local depot so that no marauding elements would spoil the print intended for President Sproul's personal collection.

According to officials of the road, President Sproul regards the Glendale station as a model in station building and architecture and holds it as his favorite over the entire Southern Pacific system. Secretary Howard L. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce posed for one of the views taken by the San Francisco photographer.

ADOPT RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, March 3.—With the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill dead for this season, the House adopted, by a vote of 173 to 3 a resolution fathered by Representative Madden of Illinois, directing the president to appoint a commission of three members to investigate the Shoals project during the summer and submit recommendations to the new Congress next fall as to the ultimate disposition of the project.

RHEUMATISM
LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinges of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. Ahlmann Drug Co. is my appointed agent in your city. If you live out of town I'll gladly send you free particulars.

WARNING IS GIVEN
REALTORS ON TAX

Goodcell Reports Subdividers Are Neglecting Proper Income Returns

By CAL FISHER
For Southern News Service
LOS ANGELES, March 3.—

Warning was broadcast today by Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue, to real estate subdividers of Southern California, who, he claims, are not properly reporting for income tax purposes, profits realized on sales of real estate. For failure to do this they are liable to heavy penalties.

Special squads of investigators will be sent to Los Angeles from Washington to probe the accounts of all firms engaged in real estate subdividing, he said. One of the outstanding violations, Goodcell said, is failure of subdividers to report as income amounts paid to original owners of land tracts by trust companies in liquidation of mortgages given by the subdivider. It is against the regulations not to account for these amounts. "Many Southern California taxpayers will save themselves a lot of trouble and expense if they immediately correct any reports previously filed in error," he said.

"Because of the immense profits realized from the sale of real estate in Southern California it is my understanding that the commissioner of internal revenue will assign special squads to investigate the records of all companies and individuals engaging in such business, and it would be of material advantage to the taxpayers involved to the amended returns prior to such investigations."

TO DISMISS SCHOOL

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—School children in Los Angeles will be released from classes Wednesday to hear the inaugural address of President Coolidge over the radio, school authorities announced today. Students from the University of Southern California will hear the president's address from a receiving set in the college's amphitheatre.

Los Angeles, Calif.
Radium Ore Revigator Co.
The water from the Radium Ore Lined Jar has helped me more than anything I ever tried for nervous stomach trouble and regulating the general system. It really produces the pep, vigor, vim and new energy that is claimed for it by the manufacturer.
Yours respectfully,
E. K. PFEITZING.
522 West 8th St.

Radium Ore Revigator Co.
I have been using the water from a Radium Ore Lined Jar for three months, and I am pleased to state for the benefit of any sufferers, that I have gained eight pounds in weight, I sleep very much better, and enjoy my food much better and eat anything I wish. I believe the time will come when every home in the world will have one of these Radium Ore Lined Jars.
These statements are made that they may possibly influence some one in poor health to avail themselves of this opportunity of having soft, radiumized water.
Yours truly,
J. G. MORAVEC, Palms, Calif.

Los Angeles, Calif.
Radium Ore Revigator Co.
I purchased a Radium Ore Lined Jar fourteen days ago and I can truthfully say that the use of the water from this jar has made me feel better in every way than I have felt for ten years. I sleep better, have more energy, my mind is clearer and I can assimilate my food better. My circulation is very much improved. My skin has become moist and soft. I would not sell my jar for $500 if I could not secure another.

Health results that seem almost miraculous have been accomplished at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and other similar health centers. Radio-activity in the water is the secret of its value. Similar results have been accomplished by many who have used radium water as it is produced by the Radium Ore Revigator. The water at Hot Springs and the water from the Revigator are both radio-active.

In Your Home
But the Revigator makes this vital radium water available to you at home. You no longer need to go to Hot Springs for these health values. It is a sure, easy, economical method of providing radium water daily for your family. A healthful, tasteless water.

Try FREE for Ten Days
But we want you to convince yourself. We believe that you will see the results in ten days. So we are making radium water available to you at our expense for ten days. Drink it, all that you want. Take a bottle of it home with you daily. Call for your radium water at

Election To Governing Body Of L. A.

The political pot was boiling in Atwater Park today, following the announcement last night that E. E. Lampton, resident of the district, is willing to seek election to the Los Angeles City Council, acquiescing to the urge of more than 300 residents of the park who already have signed a petition asking him to run.

At the same time it was hinted that still another candidate would be advanced for the councilship in the first ward by Atwater Park backers and that his candidacy would be made public tomorrow. Mr. Lampton has definitely decided to be a candidate, it was stated today. At the city hall in Los Angeles it was announced that he already had filed necessary papers with the city clerk's office.

Regardless of who the Atwater Park candidate might turn out to be, impartial observers point out, the district is most logically entitled to consideration in the forthcoming election. It was stated that the largest percentage of population in the first ward is included in the Atwater district and that this fact alone entitles the park to councilmanic recognition.

Councilman Speaks
Miles Gregory, Los Angeles City councilman, spoke to 300 members of the Atwater Community Improvement association last night at the Neighborhood Christian church. The speaker dwelt on the needs of the Atwater district and the relation of the district and the association to the City Council. Mr. Gregory answered a number of questions. A further discussion of the street lighting question was taken up. Petitions will be circulated commencing today. It was announced, asking that all light petitions so far presented to the commission be thrown out so that new petitions for Marble-Lite standards, okayed by the association, can be filed. A committee of three headed by P. E. Lipscomb was appointed to represent Atwater Park at a meeting of representatives of all chambers of commerce and improvement bodies of the San Fernando valley and included in the First Councilmanic ward of Los Angeles. This meeting will take place at Van Nuys on March 10. Councilmanic timber from the first ward will be discussed at this meeting.
